

Mayoral Proclamation For Awareness of Amyloidosis

Whereas: Amyloidosis is a rare disease that occurs when a substance called amyloid builds up in your organs, and;

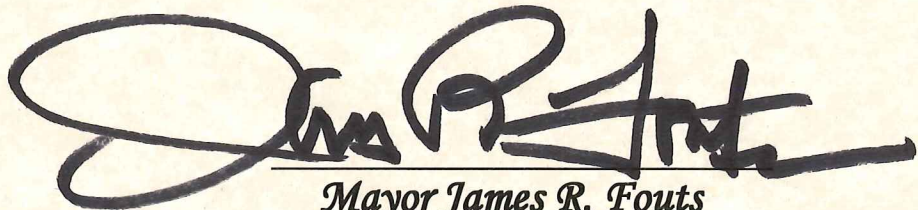

Whereas: Amyloid is an abnormal protein that is produced in your bone and can be deposited in any tissue or organ, and;

Whereas: Amyloidosis can affect different organs in different people, and there are different types of amyloid, and;

Whereas: Amyloidosis frequently affects the heart, kidneys, liver, spleen, nervous system and digestive tract, and;

Whereas: Severe amyloidosis can lead to life-threatening organ failure, and;

Therefore be it resolved that I, as mayor of Warren, the state's third largest city in population, do hereby issue this Mayoral Proclamation to bring public awareness and understanding to Amyloidosis and its dangers.
